Traditional Afternoon Tea

The Gem Hotels Traditional Afternoon Tea The introduction of afternoon tea is attributed to Anna the 7th Duchess of Bedford (c.1840). The Duchess would become hungry around four o'clock in the afternoon. The evening meal in her household was served fashionably late at eight o'clock, thus leaving a long period of time between lunch and dinner. She requested tea, bread and cakes to be brought to her room between 3pm-4pm in the afternoon, developing a habit she could not break. Soon others followed the Duchess' lead, establishing afternoon tea as a formal pastime to look forward to.
